Cries on Attorney's Shoulder.

"We, the jury, find the defendant not

At 3:35 Tuesday afternoon the jury in | not a word. the case of Noel Morgan, on trial in the county court on a charge of murdering Lawrence Wimber, a schoolmate in San Jacinto Plaza while president Taft was eating breakfast in the St. Regis hotel, October 16, 1909, returned this verdict, after being out but 20 minutes.

School boys in the rear of the courtroom, who had listened interestedly to the arguments of counsel for both the prosecution and defence, applauded and Noel Morgan, the 14 year old boy charged with the crime, bardly knew what to make of it until Tom Lea, one of his attorneys, tapped him on the shoulder in

Then the youngster, who had held up bravely through it all, turned he head to the left, buried it on Lea's shoulder and gave vent to his feelings. Down his cheeks the hot tears of gratitude poured, running their course down on coatsleeve of the attorney who over his features and he turned aside to let the boy have out his cry before he Then he called Noel and left the court room with the boy between himself and Tom Lea, after the crowd had made its way out through the doors and dis-persed at the courthouse steps.

Mrs. Wimber, the mother of the dead boy, had sat throughout the trial, bowed down with grief, and as Dan Jackson in his argument before the jury pictured the horrors of sending a boy to a penal institution, she turned aside her head and wiped away a tear that trickled down her cheek. No enmity was there, no desire to see the boy prosecuted, just a reeling of sorrow for the little fellow who was standing trial and who stood it bravely until he knew that he was free and then, overcome by his emotions, wept. Mrs. Wimber went out with the crowd, back to her empty home, turning neither to the left nor the right and speaking Throughout the trial there had been considerable interest manifested in the case and all of the seats were crowded. with school children, some witnesses, others merely interested spectators. After the verdict was read the jury was excused until 9 oclock Wednesday morning and they filed out one after

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed. prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effects and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; i- is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring season if you use S. S. S. for your tonic. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
